

Alaqan Pay - Payments by palm vein biometrics

Alaqan is a Kazakhstan-based technology company specializing in biometric payment solutions. We develop proprietary software and hardware for secure and seamless bio-acquiring services using advanced palm vein recognition technology. Our cutting-edge algorithm ensures high accuracy, fraud protection, and seamless user experience, making biometric payments faster and more secure than traditional methods.

Our solutions integrate easily into banks, retail, public services, and access control systems, providing a contactless, hygienic, and convenient payment experience. Alaqan's technology eliminates the need for cards or smartphones - users simply scan their palm to complete transactions.

With a strong focus on innovation and security, we are expanding our technology across global markets, offering customizable and scalable biometric payment solutions for businesses and financial institutions worldwide.